

Research Funding Acknowledged

Australian Spinal Research Foundation was recently awarded the International Leadership Award for Research at Parker Seminar, Las Vegas, which is the largest chiropractic seminar worldwide.

In presenting the award Parker College President, Dr Fabrizio Mancini commented "We know the challenges that face our profession through the need to increase knowledge, coming out of research, for all doctors. Spinal Research was established 33 years ago and is growing an outstanding international reputation for funding research which is unique to chiropractic. This award recognizes Spinal Research's international leadership in being a vital link in nurturing researchers, developing the science of chiropractic in all its dimensions, and providing service to the chiropractic profession internationally."

In accepting the award the President of Spinal Research, Dr Martin Harvey said, " This award is a culmination of vision, determination and contribution by an enormous number of people spanning the 33 year history of our foundation. The award acknowledges all those who have contributed by donations, membership, leadership or volunteer service to allow Spinal Research to serve and support the chiropractic profession. We clearly acknowledge them and invite others to contribute and participate. The research projects we have recently funded are very exciting and will evolve to become of real value to chiropractors in practice and the chiropractic profession at large. Research for the profession is constrained by limited financial resources and we, those who benefit from research, need to do more and give more.

As we receive funds we will continue to invest in research which will support the profession to ensure chiropractic achieves its rightful place in health care."

Congratulations to all those who contributed to the achievement of this award.
